

The Flatness and Other Landscape (Paperback)

By Michael Martone

University of Georgia Press, United States, 2003. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Reprint. 219 x 139 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Seen from the air, the seemingly endless flyover spaces that form America's Midwest appear in rectangular variations of brown, green, and ochre, with what Michael Martone terms the tended look of a train set. In these essays, the flatness of the region becomes the author's canvas for a richly textured, multidimensional exploration of its culture and history. In the tradition of the Greek myths that inspire him, Martone begins at the beginning--his beginning--as a child who grew up in his mother's high school English classroom. As the essays unfold, provocative accounts of his experiences lead us on a path toward discovery of the stories that build our own sense of place and color our understanding of the world. From depicting the details of mechanized cow-milking to relating the similarities between the Greek city of Sparta and Indianapolis, Martone subtly connects different cultures, times, and stories. Stories We Tell Ourselves characterizes the fluid, energetic writing that transforms a mundane small town into an intertwined, vibrant world shaped by the perceptions and memories of the people who live...
