

Ribbin Jivin and Playin the Dozens: The Persistent Dilemma in Our Schools

By Herbert L. Foster

H.L. Foster Associates. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 384 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 5.9in. x 0.8in. Every six months or so, a study reports about our inability to educate black males. Yet, after reading Ribbin, Jivin, and Playin the Dozens: The Persistent Dilemma in Our Schools, teachers learned how to teach black males. Through 99 Realities and other examples, Ribbin, describes, discusses, and explains black male street corner language and behavior and how it is played out in the classroom. Too often, teachers misunderstand and misinterpret their black male students language and behavior resulting in their black male students being referred to special education or considered a discipline problem disproportionate to their numbers in the school. Ribbin will provide you with the educational insight to successfully educate black male the information woefully lacking in contemporary education courses. Authentic examples are provided that demonstrates how some teachers handled challenging situations with their black male students to help you develop your own teaching style relative to your persona and student population. When you open Ribbin, Reality 1 is a must read, it recounts my first day of substitute teaching in the N. Y. C. Public Schools and what happened to me that Friday morning....

Reviews

Absolutely among the finest pdf I have got possibly read. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.
