General Accounting Office, 2000 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)49043562 Subject: Export controls -- United States. Excerpt: . . . acquire such item from sources within the United States in the absence of export controls; and ( 3 ) is available in sufficient quantity so that the requirement of a license or other authorization with respect to the export of such an item is or would be ineffective. A proposed revision to S. 1712 would authorize the President to designate certain items on the national security control list to require enhanced security and, thus, to have them excluded from the mass market and foreign availability provisions. Although the Export Administration Act does not mention price of an item as a criterion for determining foreign availability, it does set forth two additional 13 factors that are not covered by S. 1712. Thus, S. 1712 does not include the two factors of availability without restriction and comparable in quality to items produced in the United States for determining foreign availability of an item. POST-SHIPMENT VERIFICATIONS Post-shipment verifications confirm the physical location of high performance computers and, to the extent practical, verify if they are being used as intended. However, there are limitations to determining end-use. Although the National Defense Authorization Act requires post-shipment verifications on all high performance computers, whether licensed or not, exported since November 18, 1997, the date of the statutes enactment, to tier 3 countries, Commerce has not visited high performance computers exported to China prior to an end-use 14 arrangement reached in June 1998 and believes that it would be futile to seek 13 The Act prohibits export controls for foreign policy or national security purposes on the U...
